

SAFE HOMES PLEDGE

a project of Roseau County Prevention Coalition ~ RCMP

The Safe Homes pledge for Roseau County High School parents:

- I will not serve nor will I allow anyone under the legal drinking age to consume alcohol in my home or on my property.
- I will not allow the use or possession of illegal substances in my home or on my property.
- I will not allow parties or gatherings in my home without proper, responsible adult supervision.
- I will establish a clear "family position" on the use of illegal substances and discuss this position with my child(ren) on a regular basis.
- I will support RCMP prevention curriculum and school discipline policies relating to illegal substance use among our youth.

What are the parental benefits to participating in the Safe Homes pledge program?

- Names, phone numbers, and addresses of RCMP Safe Homes participants will be published in a directory, which will encourage an RCMP parent network.
- When adults join together and take a united stand against illegal substance use, they feel empowered to do the right thing, and become more effective than when they act separately.
- Supporting one another helps parents to resist pressure from those who do not set limits on their children's behavior.
- Parental responsibility when hosting a youth party or gathering:
 - Be a visible host. Tell guests who choose to leave the activity that they may not return.
 - Encourage "by invitation only" gatherings to avoid party crashers.
 - Do not allow anyone under the influence of illegal substances to go home alone or to drive.
 - Call the parents of anyone who appears to be under the influence or is in possession of illegal substances.
 - Call appropriate law enforcement, if necessary.

Suggested parental responsibility when your child is invited to an activity:

- Call the adult in charge of the activity to verify the occasion, location, and that there will be appropriate adult supervision. Confirm that the use of illegal substances will not be allowed at this event.
- If the activity seems inappropriate, express your concern, keep your teen home, and seek an alternate activity.
- Your job is to "parent," not to be your child's "best friend."

BE A PARENT, NOT A PAL!

Thank you for supporting a vision of our community in which youth choose not to use, and are supported and valued for that choice.

The Roseau County Prevention Coalition is a community coalition working to reduce the use of drugs and alcohol among young people in our community. For more information, please visit www.rcpcoalition.com or contact Brenda Arntzen, RCMP Coordinator @ brenda_arntzen@mmcable.net or contact Program Director Tammie Doebler @ tidoebler@centurytel.net.

~ Questions & Some Answers ~

QUESTION: I feel awkward calling a parent I don't know. Any suggestions for how to initiate a conversation about adult supervision at a teen gathering?

ANSWER: To confirm that alcohol is not available at teen parties – and that parents are, one RCMP parent and coalition member, recommends making a "chips call." The conversation might go something like this: "Hi, I'm Joe, Sammy's dad ... understand you are hosting a gathering over there tonight." (pause) "Are you set to go? Need chips or anything?" Providing the parents already know about these plans, from this opener they will likely confirm that they will be home and the party will be monitored. If you're the one hosting the party, this is where you confirm that drinking or smoking won't be tolerated. Awkward? Maybe a little, but keep in mind that this is your child, and kids need to know that you're both trusting and verifying their information!

QUESTION: If I know about an underage drinking party, what should I do? I've heard that even people in this directory have had underage drinking parties in their home.

ANSWER: The purpose of this directory is to facilitate a network so parents can communicate about their teens' plans. It is not designed to be an enforcement tool. We asked Roseau County Sheriff's Office Chief Deputy, Terry Bandemer what we should do if we have information about underage drinking and drug activity. HIS RESPONSE: We would strongly encourage parents or anyone with a concern about a juvenile "drinking party" to call us before the party occurs, if at all possible. That gives us the opportunity to make contact with the homeowner and prevent the illegal behavior. If calling before the party isn't possible, the concerned citizen should call at the time of the party and we will investigate to determine what – if any – illegal activity is taking place. When calling the police to report such an incident, citizens can request to remain anonymous and we will do our best to honor that request. There could be circumstances that might require us to contact them after the fact, although those instances are rare.

Concerned citizens should contact the Roseau County Sheriff's Office to report a juvenile party before it happens. As always, residents can call 9-1-1 if they so choose. If you wish to remain anonymous, let the dispatcher know, and your name can be taken off the report.

QUESTION: What can parents or other caring adults do if they suspect a teen is using alcohol or drugs?

ANSWER: If you have concerns about your teen or your teen's friends, take action. The worst thing to do is to do nothing. Talk with the teen if you have a connection, and voice your concerns. If that is not possible, discuss your concern with the school guidance counselor or your family physician, or contact a local chemical health provider. (Visit rcpcoalition.com for local resources.) Consider speaking with the parents of your child's friend. It may take courage to have this conversation – and grace, if you are on the receiving end of a call from another parent. Keep in mind that if it were your child, wouldn't you want to know? The sooner we help a young person deal with a potential problem, the easier the solution.

QUESTION: How might parents or other caring adults react if they overhear young people talking about underage alcohol or drug use at a party or other gathering?

ANSWER: Again, take action. Let the teens know you noticed their conversation and that you want them to be safe. Remind them of the risks associated with chemical use.

QUESTION: "Did you drink or use drugs when you were in high school?" How might parents or other caring adults answer this question if posed by a teen?
ANSWER: "Remain calm. This is one of those teachable moments," advises Michael Borowiak, an expert in the field of adolescent substance use. "Ask a question in response, such as 'Why do you ask?' This will give you information about the purpose of their inquiry – plus a little time to manage any 'panic' you may feel at being asked this question! This also gives you a sense of what and how much information to share so you can engage in a meaningful conversation. Kids usually ask this question because they are wrestling with these choices in their own lives. Remember, if they can ask you this question, you can ask them the same question. Do your best to maintain a dialogue and not slip into 'lecture' mode – your teen has chosen to bring this up with you."

How one parent answered this question: "I drank alcohol and smoked marijuana because I was bored and wanted to take some risks, but I soon found out that I couldn't control the risks — the loss of trust of my parents and friends. There are much better ways of challenging ourselves than doing drugs." Joseph Califano, Founder and Chair of CASA and author of "How to Raise a Drug-Free Kid," says that in answering this question: 1) Learn why they are asking. 2) Be honest. 3) Include the consequences of your actions. 4) Share accurate information. ~ KNOW the Power of Parents ~

As parents we can:

- Know where our kids are and make sure they come home when we expect them. (Let your children know that for every minute they are late, you are worrying.)
- Ask our kids to keep us informed when plans change.
- Set family curfews and enforce them. (Possible consequences for missing curfew: come home earlier next time; do extra chores; lose privileges.)

Teens who learn anti-drug messages at home are 42 percent less likely to use drugs. www.theantidrug.com

NOTES:

Make your position clear when it comes to dangerous substances like alcohol, tobacco, and other drugs.

Don't assume that your children know where you stand.
